ms — Weakness, consultation, dizziness in ing sparks, dimness of sight, loss of memory, head ache, pain in the back, nervous debility, horrid dreams, ness, dark spots before the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rushing of waters — palpitation of the heart, indigestion, trembling, fearfulness, nervousness, startings of chlorosis, or green sickness, a shrinking of the limbs, confirmed consumption, loss of muscular power, dimness of sight, loss of procreative power, confusion of ideas, aversion to study, loss of memory, horrible dreams, a desire to shun society, fear of misfortune, blotches on the face and various eruptions about the body, nervous headache, weak breath, cough, consumption, night sweats, seminal emissions and frequent nocturnal pollutions. If relief is not obtained, and a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this class of diseases, which never fails in a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any case he will not cure — or will publish to the world the name of any person who he has cured of this complaint by either of the following remedies

DR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written bond, binding himself to effect a perfect and permanent cure, or make no charge. Medicines can be sent by mail or express to any part of the country. Persons who may be DEBARRED AT HOME, by writing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, can receive medicines by return mail or express, and no one need know the nature of the treatment unless they choose. Since the date above stated I have treated and cured a large number of cases of the most delicate character, many of whom were personally known to the most respectable citizens of San Francisco, and in every part of the country with full and perfect success. Therefore I would say to those who may be afflicted, that they would be getting the best advice to be had in the city. I make this assertion in order to show the public that I am not a humbug, as I have been represented by some persons, who, for the purpose of obtaining a few dollars, would be willing to take away the character of a man who strives to be honest in his dealings with his fellow-men. Remember the name and number,

FERNANDO WOOD AND H J RAYMOND.—A correspondent of the S F Bulletin says that Fernando Wood encountered Editor Raymond on the street in New York on the 10th of July, when the following dialogue occurred!

Wood—How about the Philadelphia Convention? Will you admit our folks into it?

Raymond—I don't know whether I shall take part in it or not yet Union men ought to get together in National Convention and see if they can so harmonize their conflicting views on new issues as to achieve success on those clearly confided to their present organization I wait to see whether Union men are to control the Philadelphia meeting, or whether it is to be captured by their enemies But what have you to do with the matter?

Wood—Why, I and my friends propose to accept the invitation to the Convention and send delegates thereto. Do you think they will be admitted?

Raymond—I don't think you and your political friends have been invited The call was issued to men who sustained the war for the Union and the Administration which conducted it to a successful conclusion You opposed the war and denounced the Government

Wood—Oh! that is all passed now and should be forgotten

Raymond—It is not so long passed that it can be forgotten and when you and your friends are admitted to the Philadelphia Convention, I, for one, shall leave it

HOW IT IS UNDERSTOOD.—The following from the Day Book will serve to show what the new party movement is understood to mean, by the simon pure Democracy The Day Book sets out by expressing a doubt whether the elements entering into the new party can be conglomerated into a living party, and then proceeds

Nevertheless, great good may grow out of it, there are some really good men among them who may yet become conspicuous figures in our party history and in any event it will help to steady the President in the grand position he occupies. His position is wholly negative and can hardly form a basis for political organization but it has a phase of treacherous import, when regarded as a barrier against the turbid and tumultuous waves of Abolition now so fearfully threatening to engulf the country But really no time should be lost in organizing a real, honest and intelligent national party whose fundamental principle is this, 'Union as it was,' and the utter blotting out of every thing in our history since the advent of abolition.

In other words

The Daily Oregonian.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 11, 1866.

Probable Railroad Routes to Oregon.

Not long ago a grant of lands was made by Congress for the construction of a railroad from Salt Lake to the Columbia river. Though there is probably little actual utility in legislation of this sort for projected railroad lines over the great deserts of the interior, it may serve to keep public attention fixed upon the subject and provoke inquiry as to the best routes by which the Pacific ocean can be reached by railroad from the middle of the continent.

The principal barrier in the way a of road from Salt Lake to the Columbia river would be found in the Blue mountains. The obstacles here presented are somewhat difficult, but by no means insurmountable. On the line of the "Ruckel and Thomas road," so-called, which follows one of the branches of the Umatilla river in its course through the mountains, there is a very easy grade on which a railroad can be built at an expense surprisingly small when the height and ruggedness of the mountain chain are taken into consideration.

The grant of lands by Congress for this road, along any line which it will be likely to follow, will be of little avail in helping its construction. No one who is acquainted with the nature of the high desert table lands over which the route lies needs to be told why a donation of this kind will prove of little value for the purposes for which it is designed.

Another route for a branch road to Oregon, which may be worth some consideration has been proposed, viz: To tap the Central Pacific Railroad at the most accessible point in the State of Nevada, say somewhere on the Humboldt river, proceeding thence by the most available route through south-eastern Oregon, crossing the Cascade mountains through the pass formed by the Middle Fork of the Willamette, and continuing from Eugene City down the Willamette Valley to Portland. It is about 300 miles from Eugene City to the line of the Central Pacific in the direction indicated. A considerable portion of the country in that quarter is very fertile and well adapted every way for a large population. There are no natural obstacles in the way till the Cascade Mountains are reached, and on the further slope of the range the ascivity is so inconsiderable as to be almost unappreciable. On this side of the mountains the steepest grade to be encountered would not exceed seventy feet per mile, and this only for a short distance. In a short time Portland can be put in railroad communication with the East by this route by the construction of 400 miles of road, and we should also in this way realize that other long desired object, a railroad through the Willamette Valley.

So little is positively known of the country which it is proposed to traverse with railroads from Salt Lake to the north-western part of this State, that these schemes and others like them must for the present be subjects merely for conjecture and speculation. In time we may see before us a promise of results of a more practical character.

Mightily Mixed.

The Herald makes a dreadful pother in trying to extricate itself from the labyrinth of its own inconsistencies and contradictions on the subject of the "new party." To such an extent has it become involved in confusions and contrary declarations, that there is no longer any congruity between its articles from day to day, or even between different parts of the same article. For instance, near the head of its article on Friday morning it said:

The Herald never intimated that the "aims of the new party now forming are identical with those by which the Union party was guided during the rebellion."

Near the close of the same article it says:

Messrs Johnson and Doolittle adhere to the pledges which they gave to do — a with their party to "maintain the integrity of the Union."

A week ago, by way of comparison between the Union party and the holters, it said:

If there is anything in this (the call for the Philadelphia Convention) false to the Union party, then that party is the most false and hypocritical of any party which ever did b — under false pretenses. The sole avowed object of the so-called Union party was the restoration of the Union, "laying aside all differences of political opinion."

This is precisely what you say is the object of the "new party." If we may believe your statement then, the "aims of the new party are identical with those by which the Union party was guided during the rebellion."

Again on Friday it said:

We suppect no principles now which we — ed during Mr Lincoln's Administration or at any other time.

In elucidation of this proposition, take the following. We still quote from the article of Friday:

We — Johnson & Doolittle & Co." during the war — we denied them a — of the party with which they then acted [illegible] with the principles which they — ed, and took — they got the — of certain — which we — not. We were — to disbanding the confederacies of the South, they were determined to overthrow slavery. Where are those issues now? Peace is restored, slavery is abolished, and nothing remains but to restore the Union under the changed circumstances. What issues have they — to oppose them (Johnson and Doolittle) upon [illegible] upon which there has been no disagreement?

That is to say, though you declared in 1864 that slavery ought not to be abolished, you now endorse the manifesto of the new party which asserts that it "ought not to be restored." Though you opposed "the restoration of the Union under the changed situation" two years ago, you acquiesce, or pretend to acquiesce in such restoration now, and then have the effrontery to declare that you "support no principles now which you opposed during Mr. Lincoln's Administration." You and your party endorse the call for the Philadelphia Convention which you claim is to act on the Lincoln platform of 1864, and then aver that it is founded on "principles upon which there has been no disagreement" between yourselves and Johnson, Doolittle & Co. It is very evident that you don't where you are except that you are all out of office and are ready to try any dodge by which you can get in.

The Copperheads — that there never will be a harmonious union of the States until their party comes into power. Their plan of restoring the Union is to let the rebels into Congress, and then proclaim the country united and claim for themselves all the credit of the job. This way of restoring the Union would be precisely equivalent to that which was proposed in Democratic circles in 1861 when all the northern States except New England were to seek admission into the Confederate Union under the Montgomery Constitution. The Union the Copperheads would give us now would be just such a Union as they proposed then.

A Washington dispatch of July 9th furnishes the following intelligence:

The Richmond was visited last night with severe indisposition, the result of the unprecedentedly hot weather. He has been closely confined all day.

Were we to adopt the idea and language of some of those who are now supporting him so enthusiastically, we should say that his indisposition was owing to a "beastly orgie" to which he had been given up for several days. See the New York World of March 8th, 1865, and Beriah Brown's Democratic Press, of a date a few weeks later.

Throckmorton, the elected governor of Texas, is called a "Conservative." Of course he was in the rebel army, having reached the rank of a brigadier.

The Red Bluff Independent says Johnson went up a rocket from Nashville in 1861, and now the stick is stuck in Washington.

Exchange —The Examiner calls upon the Oregonians to enroll. Doesn't the Ex — mean unroll? —Appeal.

Rather, does not the Examiner mean uncoil?

FROM MONTANA.

We clip the following from the Helena Radicator of July 21st

DISCOVERIES ON BURNT FORK

A letter dated July 17th, says "I am happy to let you know that the ten miners who left Helena on the 20th of June last, on a prospecting tour, have struck it big, and no humbug about it. The point of discovery is at Burnt Fork, a tributary of the Bitter Root. Our Recorder charges nothing for recording. We are not going to bilk the boys out of two dollars. Our prospects range from six cents to five dollars to the pan. The bed rock is eight feet down, and is covered with four feet of gravels; so I think we have a good thing. The gulch is seven miles long. We have struck another gulch, about five miles long, nearly as good as this.

There is plenty of room here for 3000 miners, and 'twill not cost them a cent for recording, as our company have elected a Recorder and built him a cabin 12 by 16 feet, as a consideration for his services, paid in advance."

FROM GALLATIN VALLEY

A Gallatin City correspondent says: Our three great valleys, namely: the Gallatin, Madison and Jefferson, are beginning to settle with emigrants from every State in our Union, the Madison and Jefferson valleys will soon have larger settlements than the Gallatin.

Our crops, though damaged to a great extent by high waters and grasshoppers, are looking fine. The grasshoppers are leaving our valleys, but for the last few days the potatoe bugs have made their appearance, and men and women are to be seen in the fields with clubs in hand making greater havoc among them than Sampson did among the Philistines.

We have a new flouring mill on the Madison, owned by Fredericks & Co., which will be in running order by the 1st of September next.

I visited Indian Creek the other day and was happy to learn that some parties were doing well, and that it bids fair to be a lasting camp.

STRIKE AMONG THE TYPOS.

We learn that on Monday last, the printers employed on the Post and Democrat in Virginia City, informed their employers that unless the price of composition was raised from ninety cents which was the price paid at that time — to one dollar and a quarter per thousand, they would quit work. The proprietors not immediately consenting to their demands, the printers started in on a "high-toned spree," raised the stars and stripes on the flag pole, fired off some shots from a blunderbuss on hand, and proclaimed to the astonished and awe-stricken citizens of Virginia City, that a printer's strike was inaugurated, and unless their propositions were acceded to times would be "terrific" in that burgh. Matters were amicably arranged between the typos and their employers, and "peace once more reigns in Warsaw."

We are sorry to learn that Professor Dinsdale is lying very low, at Virginia City, with — Too close application to business, it is thought, is the cause of it. The Professor has been an invaluable man to the Post firm, as an editor, and we hope these gentlemen will try and make his sick bed deservingly comfortable.

RECONSTRUCTION.—The Richmond Examiner says of the 4th of July:

This day brings with it a strange mingling of emotion to the Southern heart. It is the anniversary of the birth of the United States, but it is also the anniversary of the fall of Vicksburg—a disaster that gave our short-lived Confederacy its mortal hurt. Shall we rejoice, or shall we be sad? Wherefore should we be sad?

Nobody expects an unconverted rebel to be glad on the anniversary of the National birth. The Examiner can however rejoice on the anniversary of Bull Run, or the Ft. Pillow massacre, or the New Orleans riot. Going into the Philadelphia movement will not render such rejoicings out of taste. They will be, rather, an evidence that the Examiner has "accepted the situation in good faith," and is steadfast in devotion to "my policy."

SENATOR COLE.—A little knot of politicians in California lately nominated Hon. Cornelius Cole as a delegate to the Philadelphia Convention. The following extract from a letter lately written by him, will show how he would be likely to vote if he were to accept the trust which is tendered him:

The Congressional plan for reconstruction is well received everywhere. It is a mighty strong piece of work, and the rebels have made but few hits upon it this far. I am quite content with it, for I am certain if we hold that we will be able to make the other advances — to constitute ours the model Republic. If we had gone further now, or had been driven back, the moral effect would have been bad. We can hold our part ground against all opposition; can we not?

A call has been issued, signed by Gens. Logan, Palmer, Hayne, and other distinguished soldiers of Illinois, for a mass convention of the "Grand Army of the Republic"—of Illinois—a political organization of military men to be held at Springfield on the 12th of August. It will be safe to assert that none of the true and — ful soldiers of the Union will be p — t at Philadelphia on the 14th of this month.

A COSTLY VICE.—According to the internal revenue statistics, there is now annually consumed in the United States, about 45,000,000 gallons of spirituous liquors equal to 1½ gallons for every man, woman and child. The wholesale price of the cheapest article of whisky is now in the neighborhood of $2 25 per gallon.

SELF REWARDED.—The little clique of Dentists who would fain disparage the Sozodont betray, by their own foolish folly use, the fact that the — erative properties of this pure Vegetable Antiseptic are its real office. It interferes with business interests, that's all.

EUREKA "EXTRA" said a fair — the other day to a lady friend who wished to know what the matter. "Why," said she, "Eureka means I have found it;" or in other words, I mean the place to get the most beautiful PHOTOGRAPHS is of ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL at their GALLERY, 89 First street. If you have not been there it is high time you should go." Such is the character of conversation among — who are competent judges of nice pictures.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and ... a ... ly of the best articles appearing in THE DAILY OREGONIAN,—full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal in Oregon, and in the particular of Commercial matters and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable, more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

Single copies 12½ cents, or $3 00 per year, to any part of the United States, or British Columbia.

THE COAST SETTLEMENTS.—We have frequently made ...ences to the progress of settlements in the Tillamook Bay country, which is very encouraging for the coast counties. We have had our attention called to another locality, which promises to become a populous region, as soon as the valuable resources are known to the public, lying a few miles north of Tillamook, along Nehalem river. Mr John Bruce, of this city, who has lately paid the Nehalem river region a visit, returns there to-day, having left by the steamer John H. Couch. We learn from him that the Nehalem is a river nearly as large as the Tillamook at this city, so far as he explored, probably ...ire miles from its mouth. It empties into the Pacific ocean twelve miles north of Tillamook, four miles south of Kearney mountain. The bottom lands are of fine soil, ...ually watered, and easily adapted to cultivation, being covered with scattering spruce timber, and vine maple. The tide in the river, eight miles from its mouth, has a rise and fall of eight and a half feet, and is brought an ample distance for good sized ships will be found at the bar. There are two routes by which the locality can be easily reached from Portland. The first is by way of the Harris trail from Dayton, Yamhill county, and the second by way of Clatsop: in going the former route persons leaving Portland by steamer for Dayton, Gosney, Hare & Co.'s landing, near Dayton, Yamhill county, can cross the mountains in two days. Arriving at Tillamook they will find an excellent hotel, kept by Mr B. D Gosney. Here a sail for fifteen miles down the bay brings them to the hospitable quarters of Judge Bailey, from which place a fine beach can be traveled sixteen miles to the Nehalem river. The trail built by Mr Harris over the mountains from Dayton, is spoken of in high terms by Mr. Bruce, who informs us that the amount of labor and money ... by Mr. Harris is astonishing, for ... which Mr H... great credit. It is traveled considerably, but the proprietor is scarcely reaping the reward from it which his enterprise ... The route from Astoria is by way of Clatsop beach, and Kearney mountain, and can be traveled in about the same space of time, with good places to stop at. From Mr Latta's place to the place of Mr. Crawford, is one day's travel, and from Crawford's to the new resorts, Mr. B. informs us that the ... is really the p... Game and fish of all kinds is abundant.

COUNTY COURT.—The August term of the County Court for Multnomah county, Judge P. A. Marquam, presiding, was finally entered upon the records yesterday in the matter of the estate of Peter McGrade, d... ed, on the claim of Dr I. A. Davenport was allowed, at $164 22, and Mary McGrade, administratrix of the estate, was ordered to pay the same.....Tuesday, the 4th day of September was fixed for hearing the final settlement of the ... administrator of the estate of Daniel Murphy, deceased. To the matter of the settlement of the estate of Eunice Carruthers, deceased, C. S Silver administrator, was granted further time to make final ...ttlement, and the first Monday in October, 1866, was set for hearing the petition of the administrator for authority to sell real estate for the purpose of paying debts of said estate. The same action was had in the matter of the estate of Basil Woodward, ... A. C. S. Silver administrator. ... Judgement was rendered for $40 costs and $250 cash, in favor of Young and Dykes, against Bernard Barnhart. ... Judgment was rendered for ... ff in the sum of ... in the case of Loup & Pennoyer vs. John Ward, for the amount of $310 83 in cash. In the case of Hallenbeck & Bittel vs. Thos. Brazel, Judgment was also rendered by default to the plaintiffs, in the sum of $191 92.

TRANSPORTATION.—The only mills from various parts of the United States to the Pacific coast this ... very large. We have met with a number of ... who have ... the place the past year, and they report that by far the largest part of the emigration overland is destined for Oregon and W... ington Territory. Mr. Tyson, a gentleman who ... from Illinois, and who has been in ... California, looking for locations for a number of families who ... to come from the Mississippi States if his report in favorable to them, is now in our city. He ... that he is unable to give his friends any encouragement to push up stakes and leave for California, but we trust he may be agreeably disappointed as to ... In finding localities here desirable for his purpose. The class of people who are interested, in the movements of Mr. Tyson are of such a character as to make the very best citizens, and knowing the motives which actuate ... we feel that in the case of a change of base, ... we feel pretty certain that they will ... come to Oregon. Mr. T. will visit various portions of the State, and we feel ... that ... will be his judgement, and that Oregon will be ... reported.

LIFE INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.—Messrs. Ferry & Foster, ... estate and insurance agents, at the corner of Washington and Front streets, in this city, are the best ... to render people ... in their business ... of any firm we know of. In a recent ... Wood at Stockton, California, by Rev C. B. Hendee, the morality of life insurance was discussed and the speaker urged that as it was the duty of man to ... for the present and future wants of his dependents upon him, life insurance was one of the plans which ... be adopted. As most men desire to provide for the wants of their families, both when living and after they shall have been deprived by death of their natural protection, Ferry & Foster should be applied to. They have real estate for the present wants of men, which they offer for sale on ... terms, and will give you a policy of life insu... in the Manhattan, so that should it be ... ry to ... up to your income, there will be provision for the maintenance of the family in the event of your death. See advertisement.

VERY TRUE.—A California paper says "Government is not ... sensible of its ... on the Pacific Slope as is evinced by the increased attention paid the different interests ...ering here." We ... the last word of the question, and to make it literally true "the California," should be inserted in place of the words "on the Pacific Slope." We know of ... thing that has been done worthy for this part of the coast. Hallock has ... ged to keep from us any material aid that could be converted to our ... against predatory bands of hostile savages, by inverting the troops of both Oregon and California in posts for the protection of the ... route from Chico, and while Pitt River creek gets $50,000 in coin, we must put up with $18,000 in greenbacks for the ... of saving ... on our roads. Again, Scott's ... 137 miles inland, has a port of entry; Collector ... etc., which Port ... gets. The bay of San Francisco, and even Napa creek, and all like ... in California are ... with barges, lighters, tugboats, etc., by which ... are easily guided in their course, but the ... at the ... of the Dalles river is very much ... ed.

SALE OF A FARM.—The farm of Mr. Wm. Hall, situated five miles ... of this city, ... 194 acres, 120 of which is under cultivation, with 30 acres of meadow land, sold, ... day at public auction, by Mr A. B. ... day, for the sum of $7,500 cash. There is on the farm a good orchard, dwelling house, with cellar, cistern, ... barn, ... and the ... last three valuable ... ents. Mr Hall ... a needy ... family, Mr Hall said for the pur... of removing to Tillamook, where he is about to ... ate. This ... shows that any person who ... to settle in the ... of the country can do on much more favorable ... than are afforded in other ... and we feel that in making his ... he is not buying with the land an intermittable ... as is the case generally in California.

COAL PROSPECTS.—Not very long since a gentleman of our acquaintance, ... in the ... of other ... in this city, that he had just returned from one of those localities in Oregon where coal had been discovered. His visit had been made ... visible, as he was ... ompanied by Dr ..., and others interested in the ... He was asked: "Well, are they taking out any coal there?" "Oh, yes," was the reply. "Doctor has ... up his pockets full, that I know of."

UNION MEETINGS.—We wish to call the attention of ... Smiths, ... ers, and others interested in that line of business, to the ... ment of "Humling ton's patent fire ... ," in another column. The agent for the patent, Mr. ... in Oregon, Mr. McClelland, will take pleasure in showing the machine to all who ... to see it.

FINE SPECIMEN.—Mr Jos. Oppenheimer, of this city, ... showed us a beautiful specimen of gold, which was found at Big Bend. The specimen weighs eleven ... and is valued at $20 to the ounce. The real value of the gold is probably but little less than that. It may be seen to-day at Messrs. Ladd & Tilton's banking house.

ACCIDENTAL FIRE.—The woods on fire in the vicinity of the farm of Mr Miller, about seven miles from Portland near Milwaukie, yesterday attracted great attention from our citizens. The smoke rose in immense clouds, and appeared to form a part of the clouds themselves. We are informed that no damage was done by the fire.

THE HUDSON'S BAY SCHISM.—The commissioners for taking evidence in the matter of the Hudson's Bay Company vs. the United States left this city for Astoria yesterday where the investigation will be further prosecuted.

PAPER MAKING.—The machinery of the Oregon City Manufacturing Company is now being placed in proper position under the direction of a competent ... and ... dent and it is expected that the works will be in operation in a few weeks.

RETURNED.—Gen. Rufus Ingalls and Staff, accompanied by Col. Babcock, and Col. Sackett, returned yesterday from Puget Sound, and proceeded to Fort Vancouver by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company's steamer Bonita, Captain James Strang.

ZOUAVE DRILL.—The Zouave Cadets were out in full uniform last evening, drilling on the streets. They make a very creditable appearance, and under command of Capt. Rosegrant, are losing none of their former efficiency. Success attend the efforts of the Zouaves.

THE NEW CITY PLATS.—Rev Mr. Atkinson of this city, County Superintendent of public schools is prepared to grant teachers certificates in accordance with law, when called upon. See advertisement.

RAIN.—A very welcome shower, ... thing to boast of in this country at the present ... of the year, visited the region about Portland last evening.

The debt includes $118 600 00 temporary loan. The papers demand the reason why Mr McCulloch does not pay it as it save the $6 000 000 annual interest. Brown Bros and thirty three other Wall street firms, and ... branches of European houses unite in a published letter to Mr McCulloch urging him to sell the coin not needed to meet the interest on the public debt.

SOMEWHAT MCCLELLANISH.—Previous to the commencement of hostilities, Field Marshal Benedict issued an address to the Austrian army which concluded as follows:

"For a long time the enemy has been boasting of his more rapid small-arm fire, but I think, my men, he will find that of little use. We shall, probably, leave him but little time for that, but dash in upon them at once, hand to hand, with bayonet and butt. As soon as, with God's help, the enemy is beaten, and compelled to retreat, we shall follow close in pursuit."

That, in connection with subsequent events, reminds us of McClellan's intention to "drive the rebels to the wall."

CALIFORNIA COAST FISHERIES.—A lot of smoked herring, says the Bee, of home production, said to be superior to any imported, has been received in San Francisco. They are, says an informant, at least one third larger, fat and perfectly cured. The run of herring on this coast lasts but a few weeks, but they are abundant in season, and of the best quality. There is no reason why the market cannot be supplied with the article from home resources and a margin left for export. The run of herring is preceded by a run of sardines, which are also of a superior quality. Mackerel, too, have their season along the coast—a few are taken with the hook. They are large, very fat and every way of a superior quality.

GUESSLER'S WORK.—Horace Greeley finished the last page of his Record and concluding volume of his history of the American Conflict at sun down on the eve preceding the "Glorious Fourth." He has still about three or four weeks labor on it, preparing the index; reading proofs, and preparing the appendix—after which he will go "off fishing somewhere" for a few months, and Russel Young will have charge of the Tribune during his absence.

OHIO.—The Ohio Union men count on from 40,000 to 60,000 majority this fall.

STATE ITEMS.

We learn that J B Reynolds, editor of the Boise Statesman, while returning from his visit to Oregon was taken ill at Burnt river, and was unable to proceed further. He was not in good health when here.

Mr Brents late clerk of Grant county and member elect to the Legislature has been in town a day or two. He will remain in the Valley till the contest for his seat in the Legislature shall be concluded.

Oregon has received more than usual attention from the late Congress. Early in July a bill was passed granting lands to aid in the construction of a military road from Albany to the eastern boundary of the State. A bill granting the same aid to a road from Corvallis to Yaquina Bay, passed on the same day. These appropriations will prove of very substantial benefit to the State.

ACROSS THE PLAINS.—The Austin Reveille of July 30th says:

Yesterday and this evening about a dozen wagons passed through town for California, having achieved the journey across the Plains from Missouri without difficulty or accident. The draft animals and loose stock were in fine condition, and gave signs of good grass along the route.

Speaker Colfax—His Views on Reconstruction.

As announced, Speaker Colfax was renominated for Congress, on the 10th of July, by the Unionists of the Ninth District of Indiana. The following letter from him was read at the Convention.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
WASHINGTON, July 2d.

DEAR SIRS: The harmony and success of the Union organization, welded together in the furnace-fire of a four years war, is of such paramount importance to all other considerations that I write you this letter, to be read at the Westville Convention, that my position may be unmistakably understood by those who have honored me with their confidence so cordially and so long.

Last winter, when my name had been suggested by several papers in various parts of the State for the Senate, I published a card, stating that I was not, and never had been a candidate for that distinguished position, having always preferred service in the House. But my name must stand in the way a single moment if any considerable portion of the Convention prefer some other standard-bearer, even though that portion should be a minority. In that event the delegation from St. Joseph county are requested to withdraw my name, and to pledge my most earnest exertions to whoever of the many active and faithful friends of the Union cause the Convention may prefer to nominate.

The contest before us is of as vital importance to the trust and best interests of the nation as the exciting contests of 1862 and 1864; and the issues should be clearly and distinctly before the people. They can be condensed into a single question: "Which shall govern in the councils of the nation—loyalty or disloyalty?" It has been well said, in language as terse as it is true, that the power to carry on war for national existence carries with it the power to prescribe the terms of peace. The duty of guarding the land against the danger of a second rebellion is as imperative as its preservation from the first. And nothing seems clearer than that the same authority which prevented eleven States from destroying the Union has a right, as indisputable as the right of self-defence, to regulate the resumption of the relations of those States.

When the rebel armies surrendered, the President decided, and rightly, that civil government had been destroyed in each of the rebel States, and he officially proclaimed that fact in his commissions to the Provisional Governors thereof. The Congressional policy starts from the same initial point. The President declared that essential conditions, involving great changes, must be complied with by those States before they could resume their forfeited rights. And so does Congress. The President required the ratification of an important constitutional amendment, which had been submitted by Congress representing the loyal States, and in which the rebel States had no voice. And Congress makes a similar demand to-day. If the President could rightfully require their ratification of one amendment, changing their whole system of labor, and destroying what they regarded as vested rights of property, proposed by a Congress in which they were unrepresented, and in conflict, as it was, with their life-long prejudices, why cannot the Congress, elected as the law-making power of the country by the same voters as himself, require the ratification of another amendment, preventing the rebel States from wielding increased power in Congress hereafter, because of the war, which, against their desires, had lifted their slaves into the full stature of freemen?

That this amendment is in accordance with the wishes of the loyal millions who won the brilliant political victory of 1864, is proven by the unanimity with which it was supported in the House of Representatives. Every man elected as a Union member, whether from the North or the South, from the East or the West, gave it his vote; not barely the two-thirds required by the Constitution, but nearly four-fifths. On this amendment, as a security for the future, the Union party of the nation have planted themselves; and I shall stand with them most cordially, vindicating its justice, wisdom and necessity, and willing on it to stand or fall.

For one, I do not doubt the result. Shall rebels settle their own terms of coming back to govern us? Shall they re-ascend to enlarged and increased power, using as steps the graves of the Union dead? Should not Congress, whose solemn duty it is to see that the republic suffers no evil, pause before the bitter foes of yesterday are admitted to the inner sanctuary of the nation's life? Ought they not to guard the halls of national legislation from being trodden by the feet of those who have been murdering the defenders of the Union for fidelity to an allegiance they themselves so wickedly repudiated?

Every newspaper in the land, North or South, which eulogized Jefferson Davis and vilified Abraham Lincoln now denounces Congress in the severest terms. Every unrepentant rebel and unscrupulous sympathizer joins them in their revilings. But I rejoice that it has been so faithful, so inflexible, to what it has regarded as the pathway of duty and right. And it now remains for the people, by their indorsement or rejection of its proposed constitutional guaranty, to approve or condemn those who present it as an indisputable prerequisite to the restoration of the forfeited rights and the political power our enemies made such hot haste to resign and abjure at the opening of the rebellion. Nor are these terms oppressive or unjust. Never has a nation taken arms with less bitterness of spirit, and where hundreds of thousands of graves and thousands of millions of debt attest its gigantic sacrifices, offered more lenient conditions to those who conspired for its destruction. Have we forgotten the taunting defiance with which their members swore like ourselves to the constitution and the Union, left their seats; the persecutions, conscriptions, tyranny, expatriations and hangings by the rebel authorities, of all who refused to forswear, like themselves, their allegiance to their country and their God; the willful torture and starvation of scores of thousands of our soldiers when prisoners in their hands; their unyielding persistency in the parricidal conflict until armed rebellion expired, not from change of will, but from poverty of resources; and the fealty of the loyal boys in blue; the continued existence of this hostile feeling, as evidenced in their political and social proscription of every Southerner who fought for his country, the disloyal utterances of their press and pulpit, and the election in every rebel State of Governors who have served or fought for the rebellion? Despite all this, Congress only asks that representation, North and South, shall be based on those eligible to participation in political power; that the civil rights of all persons, native born or naturalized, shall be maintained; that the national debt and the pension list be protected inviolate; the rebel debt repudiated, and exclusion from office of those who, having once taken and broken an oath of fidelity to the nation, could not be trusted in the faithful fulfillment hereafter of another similar obligation.

Contrast this with the course of our fathers toward those who, during the Revolutionary war, refused to fight for the independence of the Colonies. The Tories of that day insisted that their allegiance and loyalty were due the King, and that they should not be compelled to transfer them. But the stern patriots who fought all our Government would tolerate no such sentiment. Determined to create a pure national sentiment, they made toryism odious in every possible way. They admitted none of them to seats in the Congress of the nation against which they had plotted. They allowed no floral processions to the graves of the Tory dead, nor the use of such pretexts for treasonable speeches of eulogy on their last mouse. They suffered no Tory papers to exist and scatter their malignant poison over the land. They disfranchised and expatriated them. Such was the reconstruction policy of our fathers.

Strongly in contrast with this as is the reconstruction policy of Congress, so mild and forgiving of the blackest of crimes, not for revenge but for defense; not for punishment, but for justice—our Democratic opponents have arrayed themselves against it, and the people are to decide the issue. If you would take on board as a crew to work your ship, those who had just been striving to scuttle and destroy it, then it might be believed that the American people would throw open the doors of their Congress and intrust appropriations and the public debt and the legislation for all matters of national concern, to those who sought to whelm the nation in common ruin, and who, if they had the power to do, would shatter the republic and rebuild the Confederacy.

In 1864, when the Democratic National Convention at Chicago resolved that the war was a failure, and demanded an immediate cessation of hostilities by our armies, thus waving the white flag of surrender, Jefferson Davis, the President of the rebel conspiracy, waited and watched for the result with the deepest anxiety. The magnificent uprising of the people destroyed his hopes; and with the resistless blows of our gallant soldiers, his wicked cause went down. Now, in 1866, A. H. Stephens, the Vice President of that treasonable organization, proclaims that their hope is in the elections of this fall. Again these false hopes must be destroyed. The rebel States will realize, in the response of the loyal millions to the issue, that the determination of those who saved the Union from their fierce attacks to have the guarantees against another rebellion, is indomitable. Yielding, as they must, to these demands, which, considering their course, are even more generous than just, the foretith Congress will witness loyal Senators and Representatives in their seats from every State. And the Union, thus auspiciously reconstructed on the enduring corner-stones of loyalty, universal liberty, the elevation of the oppressed and the right of all men born under our flag and naturalized in our Courts to the equal protection of the law, will commence a new career of progress, prosperity and power.

Truly yours, SCHUYLER COLFAX.

To James Davis and William H. Holloway, Congressional Committee for St. Joseph county.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY BLYTHE.

PORTLAND, August 10, 1866.

We are in receipt of dates from New York to the 12th of July. The fact that goods continued high in price, and the uncertainty attending the rate of gold at that date induced shippers to hold off somewhat, and freights for the Columbia were dull. But as the trade with the Pacific coast was looking better, it is safe to presume that by this time, taking events which have since transpired into account, business is much more active than heretofore since the close of the war.

The insurance companies of New York City sustained heavy losses from the Portland fire, though an Eastern company, the wealthy Ætna, of Hartford, is the greatest sufferer. Its losses are reported to reach $300,000 or more, but its stock has recently been selling at over 200 cents. The greatest sufferers are the Home and Metropolitan, smaller companies lose a great deal more in proportion to their capitals. Two Portland companies have lost all their capital.

Money was fast accumulating. The payment of the interest on the public debt, and of many dividends, made capital superabundant, and no great activity of speculation was reported to absorb it. Call loans were being made on the 12th, at the low rates of 4@6 ₹ cent. The amount of gold exported the previous week was $1,630,739, making $47,123,808 since January 1st. The imports had fallen off, viz.: Imports previous week, value $3,262,498 gain; exports same period, value $2,220,013 currency.

The sudden fall in the price of gold, consequent upon the cessation of hostilities in Europe, and which has had its effect here for two weeks past, will of course change the aspect of affairs at the East in the same proportion. Wool, which was being greatly stimulated, at the time of our latest dates overland, in anticipation of higher duties on foreign importations, etc., must again settle on the old basis, as the new tariff bill has since passed and gone into effect, without alteration in this respect. Cloths were in good demand, advances having been established in low and medium qualities.

The new tariff went into operation on the first day of August. Its provisions with reference to wool have been referred to in our Editorial columns. It was unfortunate for Oregon interests that the tariff was not so amended, as to allow this State and California the preference over foreign countries in supplying the Eastern factories with wool. The importance of Oregon as a wool-growing State is generally conceded, even by Californians, and it is very essential to our wool-growers that they receive protection in their pursuits. The best samples of wool shipped from the Pacific coast come from the Willamette Valley, where the grass is better than in other portions of the coast, and where the dry dusty season is in a very great measure avoided.

A Wool firm in San Francisco, who have taken some pains to collate the receipts of wool for the past five or six years, have furnished the Bulletin with the following figures showing the estimated amounts received in San Francisco from California and Oregon since 1851. The figures are in pounds. No date of Oregon wool was kept for 1851.

	California	Oregon.	Total.
1861	4,600,000	.....	4,600,000
1862	4,243,241	410,390	4,753,731
1863	6,549,582	412,880	6,962,462
1864	7,295,514	450,200	7,745,714
1865	6,455,060	791,609	7,246,670

Since January 1, 1866, and up to July 1st, the receipts of California wool foot up 4,475,250 lbs, and from Oregon about 285,000 lbs. The fall clip of California this year is estimated at 200,000.

In comparing the wool of this coast with that of other sections the Bulletin says:

"One great drawback to California wool is the large percentage of shrinkage which has to be allowed. On the medium grades of wool this is 55 ₹ cent., and on the finer grades 65@70 ₹ cent. On Oregon medium there is less than 40 ₹ cent. shrinkage. The following table, prepared by H. D. Teltscher, who is connected with one of the largest wool firms in this country, will show the ₹ cent. of shrinkage in other States:

	Per cent.
Virginia	50
Pennsylvania	44
Ohio	44
Wisconsin	48
Illinois	46
New York	49
Vermont	50
Michigan	46
Georgia	42

Compared with this table, Oregon wool is equaled only by the wool of Virginia, while California shows 5 per cent. greater shrinkage than any of those named above. This, of course, is due in part to our long, dry and dusty summers, and to a neglect to wash the wool on the sheep's back. In the earlier part of the year the wool receipts in this city for the year were estimated by some to go higher than usual. The present indications are that they will fall below 7,000,000 lbs."

Another matter which was of importance to Oregon, and which, as the tariff passed, will not work fully to the advantage of the State, is that Congress saw fit to reduce the duty on Railroad iron to $17 ₹ ton. This was a mistake. A high tariff on foreign iron is demanded. The price would soon be cheapened by domestic competition if the duty on foreign iron were $50 per ton on pig and $100 on bar. Duly insure to American iron a large, expanding, unfailing market, and its makers will rapidly improve their pr— and increase their facilities for bringing together materials, until they not only can but will make iron far cheaper than now. The existing railroads —whose rails are mainly renewed by re-rolling, and which ought to do this work themselves—ought not to ask or seek permission to import foreign iron at lower rates than are paid by others. And if they did ask it, Congress should refuse them. But with all its faults, this is an excellent bill; and its passage cannot fail to reverse the balance of trade and reduce the premium on gold.

The telegraph has informed us the past week that the Pacific Railroad has reached a point but 18 or 20 miles east of Fort Kearney, and that it was progressing at the rate of 9 miles per week. The road will, in all probability, be completed to Denver, Colorado, within twelve months. That its earnings will be immense in that time, may be seen by reading the following extract from an exchange:

"The local amount of freight annually transported to Colorado during the past few years is reported at 104,000,000 lbs, which has cost on an average 10¢ ₹ lb, making the sum of $10,400,000 annually expended in this way. It is thought that, on one year from the completion of the Pacific Railroad through Colorado, this freight would be increased three-fold, which, at 3c ₹ lb —less than one-third of the present rate—would net annually to the road $9,360,000."

A bright future is open to that Territory, which can only be compared to the future that awaits Oregon, when connection by railroad shall bring us closer to the Atlantic seaboard, and the trade of China and Japan crosses the threshold of our prosperity.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, August 10, 1866.

Trade for the week now closing has been marked for its animation, and the prospects for future business is manifest. Notwithstanding the contradictory reports which have reached us from Montana Territory for the week past large purchases continue to be made for those markets, and there is a greater quantity of freight going in that direction daily, at this time, than has been noticed ever before. Our jobbing houses are doing a fair business, equal to the usual fall trade in many respects, and our importers are some of them feeling very regretful that the delay of Congress in passing the tariff bill, and other circumstances combined, have prevented them from having full stocks on hand, or en route. However, there will be no lack of imported articles on the market in a very short time, as many cargoes have already been started, from both New York and Liverpool direct for the Pacific coast.

The new tariff, which is the subject of general remark, fixes the duty on tea and coffee just one-half the former rates, and it is hoped that drinkers of tea and coffee may receive the benefit of it.

We have no special particulars of sales for the week, but material improvement is observed. Prices are without marked change. We quote:

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, August 10, 1866

The market continues in about the same condition reported for two or three weeks. Although there is rather more inquiry for a few articles, no changes are noticeable in prices. The market is greatly stocked with hay, and sales of lots are noted at from $12 to $14 per ton but one lot of baled hay has been offered, that we can learn of, which sold from first hands at $14.

Wool is offered very sparingly, and purchasers are paying to-day from 22c. to 23½@23. On the 27th of July a decline in the wool market was announced by telegraph from New York. Had the tariff bill passed as originally proposed by Congress, the decline would have been the case.

We have dates from Australia to June 13th via Panama, brought thither by the steamship Australia, the pioneer vessel of the new Panama, New Zealand and Australian Royal Mail Steamship Company. The breadstuffs market in Sydney showed some improvement. California Flour was quoted at £17@£17 10s ₹ ton, a decline of £1 ₹ ton, as advance. California Wheat, 5s 9d to 7s ₹ bushel; Chile do, 5s @5s 3d. Oatmeal scarce, and worth 5s 3d@5s 6d ₹ bushel. Barley, fit for seed or feed purposes command 5s 6d. This firmness in the market was caused in part by the dispatch to Melbourne of cargoes originally intended for Sydney. High prices were expected to rule for the next four or five months, with perhaps an advance on current rates, inasmuch as the stock on hand, though heavy, were not in excess of home requirements. In Melbourne, May 17th, 4,000 bushels of California Wheat was sold at an advance on 7s 3d. Freights were offering at £2 16s. Oregon Pine Lumber would meet with an excellent market in Sydney. The price of Coal at Newcastle was 8s 3d, free on board.

Flour was quoted at $2.37½ ₹ 100 lb. sack, and wheat $2.41 ₹ 155 lb. about bags, at Valparaiso on July 2d. The markets of San Francisco are without alteration. The wheat going aboard vessels bound for England is mainly bought in the country, and therefore creates no activity in the market there. Our Eastern intelligence, respecting to pay the taxes and costs due thereon, for the year 1863, at public auction, at the Court House door, in the city of Portland, in said State and county, to the highest bidders therefor, in U S gold coin, to-wit:
